OTHER NEWS

Interested In Getting Involved In Methodist Heritage?

The Museum of Methodism, Wesley's House and Wesley's Chapel are all 18th century buildings right in the centre of London. Volunteers are needed to act as Heritage Stewards to help welcome and guide visitors, as well as learning and outreach assistants to help with running children's workshops and engage the local community. No previous experience is necessary. Everyone is welcome.

Full training will be provided, and there is a contribution towards travel expenses.

For more information please email museum@wesleyschapel.org or call 020 7253 2262

NEXT EDITION

If your church has any news or a forthcoming event you would like to share with the Circuit, please forward details to Michael Axton at the Circuit Office so that it can be included in each Church's newsletter/magazine.

Please send your contributions by Friday 15 April to: circuitoffice@kingstoncircuit.org.uk

The Museum of Methodism,
John Wesley's House and Wesley's Chapel

Volunteers Wanted

The Museum of Methodism, Wesley's House and Wesley's Chapel are all 18th century buildings right in the centre of London. Our stunning heritage site is one of the most important Methodist places in the UK and Wesley's House is a rare example of a Georgian town house.

Interested in getting involved in Methodist heritage?

Meet different people from all around the world and be part of a close-knit team! Our heritage stewards help in the museum, John Wesley's House and the Chapel; some also assist in our collections archive.

We are keen to recruit heritage stewards to help us welcome and guide visitors, as well as learning and outreach assistants to assist with running children's workshops and engage our local community. No previous experience is necessary, everyone is welcome.

Full training will be provided and there is a contribution towards travel expenses.
